

Test control unit

Magnetic pole indicator for identification of the field-direction of a magnet (north - south). It simply ascertains, fast and reliably the polarity of permanent magnets and electromagnets.

This reliable device is simply to be served. It is indispensable for all industrial areas and fields of investigation which deal with magnetic applications.

